The simplest relations of four points consist, we recollect, of distances, and the comparison of directions two and two. We may present these relations graphically by exhi Sect. III. Theory of correlations. Art. 113. Correlation of figures that are used simultaneously. biting in one diagram, fig. 191, F S-192 the directions and distances of all the points; and it has already been shown that a figure so constructed may be analyzed, art. 40, into four triangles and three closedA--figures of four sides. Two of the latter are shown separately in figures 173 and 174. In the first of these figures the sides follow the sequence of the letters ABCD. In the second the sides and points follow a different sequence. But to construct in this way a...
