Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Vocational Education in Wisconsin At the present time there is a wealth of discussion on the question of vocational education, much of it necessarily based on theory. Wisconsin presents us the argument from experience. That state has an enviable reputation on account of her systematic, thorough and progressive way of dealing with her problems. Her legislation on the subject of vocational education is a ease in point, which will interest all true friends of the youth who now leave our schools at fourteen to engage in the unequal struggle for subsistence. The first article, written by Prof. Chas. C. McCarthy, Chief of the Legislative Library of the State of Wisconsin, deals with the report of the Commission appointed by the Legislature of Wisconsin to study the situation; the second is a description of the system of vocational education created by the Wisconsin law, written by Mr. Arthur M. Evans of the Record-Herald; (lie third is an explanatory interview with Prof. Lewis E. Reber, Dean of the Extension Department of the University of Wisconsin, member of the Wisconsin Commission on Vocational Schools, and now Secretary of the State Industrial Board; the fourth interview is with Prof. Chas. C. McCarthy, who wrote the first article; the fifth is an address by Dr. L. D. Harvey, President of Stout Institute, Menomo-nie, Wisconsin; the sixth one is an address by Supt. Burton E. Nelson of Racine, Wisconsin, who started the first school under the new law and who knows its workings from the standpoint of the administrator, and the last article is by Mr. H. E. Miles, president of State Board of Industrial Education. I wish to thank the...
